The Reward List

You did the boring thing. Now the fun part is mandatory — write it down so it actually happens.

PACING Zero minutes of effort, all of it dessert. Fill this in at the start of reset day if you like — promising yourself a treat in advance is the glue that holds the day together.

How rewards work here: claim them immediately, no banking them for later. One small treat per finished sheet, one big treat for finishing the whole pack. That is the whole system.

Your tier list

TINY 10 minutes or less, per sheet: .....

MEDIUM Tonight, for the full pack: .....

BIG This weekend, for three months of reset days in a row:

.....

The idea bank (if the boxes stay empty)

Tiny:

Favourite snack, the good kind. A slow cup of tea. One episode. Ten guilt-free minutes of a game. Sitting in the sun doing nothing.

Medium:

Takeout you actually like. One lazy evening with the phone in another room. A bath, a book, bed early.

Big:

A long gaming session with no chores attached. A day trip. Something small you have had in a cart for weeks.

Your ticket, once every sheet is done

Fill in the blanks and keep it pinned until the reward is claimed:

I just spent _____ minutes making my phone calmer,

so now I am going to _____ without a single ounce of guilt.

Done looks like: a treat actually enjoyed, phone quieter and lighter, next reset day already scheduled. See you next month.